

Bespoke Australian-made furnishings in Residential Care fit-out

Interior fitouts of our Independent Living Apartments and Residential Care Facility are in full swing and we are excited to see years of planning come to fruition.

Australian manufacturer and designer Crown Furniture is busy creating bespoke pieces for our Residential Care rooms and common areas. They've drawn on their years of experience working in aged care and know the measurements that work best, the support required and the best styles for older people.

Crown's interior designer Julianne Brown said in designing for Capecare Dunsborough, she drew on the location, Capecare's rich history and culture. "We used this as a springboard to capitalise on the superb location and bring in elements of flora and the sea. We have woven in the hard finishes which were already chosen," she said.

"We are making and supplying a mix of pieces some from our essentials range which has stood the test of time, with some contemporary hero pieces which make it Capecare's own unique style.

"I think the new residents will be impressed with how our furniture can combine style and good looks with functionality, giving an 'at home' feel to the space," Julianne said.
